

Think Unemployment May Reach 5 Million

Economists Say Recovery Due In 1950

Washington, June 17—(AP)—Government economists believe that unemployment may go on climbing—perhaps to a point near 5,000,000—before recovery factors check the rise.

Stabilizing influences will come into play later this year or possibly 1950, responsible but unquotable officials predicted today.

Meanwhile an Associated Press survey covering 38 states showed that five have put depression-style relief laws back on the books. Seven cities or more have restored "work relief."

No Crisis Indicated

But both federal and state officials said, in general, that no crisis is indicated. Most said they feel sure the relief load can be shouldered without serious distress.

At least 10 states report that unemployment has dropped in recent weeks. Nationwide, two government reports issued today gave this picture:

1. Unemployment claims last month averaged 1,716,000, or about 5 per cent of the total work force covered by lay-off insurance. That is up 118,000 from April but still 80,000 under March.

A further rise in June was indicated. In the week ended June 11, the federal security agency reported "continued" claims—those representing a full week or more of unemployment—numbered 2,107,978. Claims held over from the previous week because of the Memorial Day holiday boosted the total.

Non-Farm Employment Dips

2. Non-farm employment dipped 280,000 in May, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics. It stood at 43,655,000, or 961,000 below a year ago.

Despite the unseasonal rise in unemployment in May, census figures show that the jobless make up only 5.3 per cent of the expanded postwar labor force.

Moreover, total employment in May rose more than 2½ times as much as joblessness. It reached 88,940,000—higher than May a year ago.

Factories led the down-trend in non-farm jobs. Beset by strikes and by layoffs blamed on "declining demand for a substantial number of products," manufacturing employment skidded 320,000. It reached 15,017,000, or 1,700,000 down from the postwar peak last September.

Testifies She Was Promised $29,000 Of Tiven Estate

Chicago, June 17—(AP)—Dr. Richard Tiven's secretary for 18 years testified today that the doctor's administrator promised her $29,000 of the $250,000 estate.

The secretary, Mrs. Gertrude C. Davies, 53, told her story before a probate court jury hearing her claim for $60,000 from the Tiven estate.

She said the Tiven administrator, Manning Briggs of Mattoon, Ill., assured her on Jan. 16, 1947, that "the girls will take care of you" and that she would get $29,000.

"The girls," Mrs. Davies said, are Mrs. Rosalind Tiven Scates, Miami Beach, Fla., and Mrs. Ruth Tiven Briggs, the administrator's wife.

They are nieces of Dr. Tiven and heirs to his estate. He died on Aug. 27, 1946, at the age of 72 without leaving a will. A prominent Chicago eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, he formerly lived in Mattoon.

Mrs. Davies says she worked at $25 a week for Dr. Tiven with the understanding that he would provide for her in a will.

Building Costs Drop First Time In Eleven Years

Des Moines, June 17—(AP)—For the first time in 11 years, home-building costs have dropped. Myron L. Matthews of Dow Service, Inc., writes in the July issue of Better Homes & Gardens magazine.

Dow Service of New York City is a construction news reporting agency and publishes several construction industry services.

Matthews writes that in some areas you can build for 12 per cent less than during 1948's postwar peak. The average drop, he notes, for the country is 6.5 per cent—a mark-down of $650 on a home that would have cost you $10,000 last year.

Along with the drop in building costs has come a reduction in sales prices of older homes which in some communities has reached 25 per cent, he adds.

Matthews bases his figures on a survey just completed that covered 150 cities.

Coplon Says Superior Ordered 'Note Taking'

Washington, June 17—(AP)—Fighting for her freedom, Judith Coplon swore today that her superior officer in the Justice department insisted that she jot down extracts from a "decoy" memorandum planted by the FBI.

The notes were found in her purse when she was arrested later the same day—last March 4—with a Russian man in New York.

Testifying for the second day as her own star witness, Miss Coplon insisted that she has "always been loyal to the United States" and wants to "live and die" in this country.

She is on trial in federal district court on a charge of purloining government secrets with intent to aid a foreign nation—Russia.

Before Judge Albert L. Reeves recessed the trial until Monday morning, the tiny, dark-haired defendant, who was an analyst in the Justice department at the time of her arrest, related the "odd request" she said she received from her boss, William E. Foley.

She testified that he handed her a paper on the morning of March 4 with the comment that it was "hot and interesting." The memorandum, she said, stated that two high officials of Amtorg, the Russian trading agency, had become FBI informants.

Miss Coplon said Foley told her he wanted her to make notes from the paper, looking toward possible prosecution of Amtorg for failure to register as a foreign agent. She said that Foley called particular attention to the name of Isidore G. Needleman, general counsel for Amtorg, and told her to make a note of that.

Even though she told Foley she planned to go to New York that evening, he told her to go ahead and make the notes, she recounted. She said he came back later and asked whether she had made the notes. Then, she said, he told her he would like her to work on the matter over the weekend, taking the notes with her to New York.

Government witnesses testified earlier in the trial that the "decoy" memorandum concerning Amtorg was made up with the intention of catching Miss Coplon's eye, after it was learned she was keeping company with a Russian, Valentine A. Gubichev, a United Nations employee.

He announced he will call a conference of highway directors from New York to Illinois to discuss the feasibility of uniform regulations.

Kauer said he had discussed such a conference with truck and trailer manufacturers, truckers and shippers, and they are in favor of it.

No date was set for the meeting. Presumably Ohio would be the host, and directors would be invited from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky, Indiana, Michigan and Illinois.

"Parkdown" protests against weight-limit regulations occurred recently in Ohio and Pennsylvania. The truckers complained state-by-state limitations hamper interstate commerce.

Proposes Increase Of State Service Employees Salaries

Springfield, Ill., June 17—(AP)—Salary increases to attract high caliber men to state service were proposed today in bills backed by Governor Stevenson.

None of the increases would be effective until the current terms of state officials expire.

The bills were submitted by Rep. John J. Ryan of Chicago, House Appropriations committee chairman. They carry out a recommendation by Stevenson in his inaugural message.

Secretary of state, attorney general, state school superintendent, state auditor and state treasurer, from the present $9,000 to $12,000.

Lieutenant governor, $5,000 to $8,000.

Code department directors, $8,000 to $10,000; their assistants, $5,500 to $7,000.

State police chief and state fire marshal, $5,500 to $7,000.

Adjutant general, $8,000 to $10,000.

Supreme court clerk, $7,500 to $10,000.

Jury Indicts Man For Robbing Office

Chicago, June 17—(AP)—Luther M. Roy, arrested last week after the robbery of a bank in South Bend, Ind., was indicted today by a federal grand jury on a charge of robbing an Elgin, Ill., office.

The grand jury, in its report to Judge John P. Barnes, alleged Roy was the gunman who robbed the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Elgin of $1270 on June 6.

Edward J. Ryan, assistant U. S. district attorney, said Roy has indicated he will plead guilty to the South Bend robbery. Ryan added that disposition of the Elgin charge probably will be transferred to the federal district court in Hammond, Ind., which has jurisdiction over the South Bend case. Roy was captured in LaPorte, Ind., a half hour after the South Bend robbery.

Prisoner In Ohio Admits Slaying Chicago Recluse

Chicago, June 17—(AP)—An assistant state's attorney reported today that an Ohio negro prisoner has admitted slugging Herman Engelhard, 79-year-old Chicago recluse who died of his injuries.

Assistant State's Attorney Abbey Blatberg said the story told by McKinley Giles, 33, of Cleveland, fits in with that told by two other negroes now being held in the county jail on a murder charge.

Arrest of the paid, Calvin Huffman, 30, and Vernon Seymour, 24, resulted from a tip furnished by the Chicago Sun-Times. State's Attorney John S. Boyle said.

The newspaper has been carrying out a campaign to clear up a list of unsolved slayings. Through a system of numbers, persons having knowledge that would help clear up any of those slayings may send it to the newspaper anonymously. A reward will be given them on conviction of the slayer.

Engelhard was robbed and fatally injured on April 30, 1948. Assistant State's Attorney Blatberg quoted Giles as saying he and Huffman knocked at the man's door and that when Engelhard opened it, Huffman slugged him with a blackjack and Giles hit him with an iron pipe.

House Votes To Up Non-Worker Pay, Cut Employer Tax

Springfield, Ill., June 17—(AP)—The Illinois House voted today to increase unemployment compensation benefits and reduce employer contribution taxes to the program.

The bill, referred to the Senate, raises maximum weekly benefits from $20 to $25.

It sets the employer contribution tax rate from a minimum of one-fourth of one per cent to a maximum of 2.7 per cent. The present rate ranges from one-half of one per cent to 3.6 per cent.

The bill also provides that women leaving work voluntarily because of pregnancy would be eligible to apply for benefits in the 13 weeks prior to anticipated childbirth and four weeks afterward.

Also sent to the Senate with House approval were bills to:

Exempt from civil service the staffs and employees of public libraries in downstate cities.

Provide a uniform method for giving notices of election in downstate school districts. The bill requires notice publications in one newspaper in the district or county and eliminates the requirement of notification by posters.

Appropriate $75,000 for tornado relief in Wood River township.

The Senate approved and sent to the House a bill asking $1,000 for a portrait of former Gov. Dwight H. Green.

151 DIE IN ILLINOIS TRAFFIC DURING MAY

Springfield, Ill., June 17—(AP)—A total of 151 persons were killed in motor vehicle accidents on Illinois state highways during May. This was a 9 per cent increase over the same month of 1948.

The traffic death toll for the first five months of this year was 667, compared with 745 during the 1948 period, the state highway division reported.

Truman Says 'Real Estate Lobby' Is Using False Propaganda Against His Housing Bill

Washington, June 17—(AP)—President Truman today threw a 4,000-word denunciation at the "real estate lobby," saying it is using false propaganda against the administration's housing bill.

He accused "a little group of ruthless men" of launching a campaign that "misstates... misrepresents... and distorts" the bill. He termed these men "shortsighted and utterly selfish."

Mr. Truman appealed to the representatives not to be misled as "success" nears on legislation "that will strike at the core of the nation's critical housing problem." He said the lobby is trying to deceive the public and stampede congress.

The bill comes before the House next Tuesday. It calls for 1,050,000 low-rent public housing units within seven years, a five-year program of slum clearance and farm housing.

Addressing House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.), Mr. Truman wrote a chapter-by-chapter reply to the more flagrant claims he attributed to the lobby.

Czechs Place Archbishop Beran Under 'House Arrest'

Prague, June 17—(AP)—The communist government touched its campaign against the Catholic church today by putting Archbishop Josef Beran under "house arrest."

Three well-known Prague priests also were under arrest after police raided the consistory in the archbishop's palace to seize church records.

Diplomatic informants speculated on whether he might also be taken to confinement elsewhere if he continued resisting what he calls a government aim to control Catholicism in Czechoslovakia and to set up a new "state Catholic church."

One diplomat familiar with the archbishopric said Archbishop Beran last Saturday discussed with some of his bishops the advisability of naming a temporary successor "in case," he said, "I am soon arrested."

Many rumors were in circulation tonight. One was that the archbishop had got out of the country and gone to Rome. This was discounted by a diplomatic source close to the bishopric.

Prague Protestants meanwhile were watching the situation closely. One Protestant churchman said: "Our interest is intense because we think we're next in the government's drive to get control of the churches and cut all ties with foreign church organizations."

He placed the number of priests under arrest at about 150 in the whole country. This figure now may be higher as a result of the government campaign to high-pressure allegiance from priests and laymen for its own sponsored Catholic action organization.

It could not be learned whether any one was getting in to see the archbishop in his palace office.

Surprised Gunmen Killed By Officers After Gem Robbery

Lincoln, Neb., June 17—(AP)—Two unidentified gunmen were ambushed by a pair of law officers and shot to death today following a roadside holdup north of Lyons, Neb., the state safety patrol said. One of the officers was wounded.

The patrol said Colfax county sheriff Edward J. Patach joined state patrolman Robert Kline of Columbus in the search for the gunmen after hearing a radio report of the robbery.

The patrol said E. L. Goldberg and Willard Davidson, both of Lincoln, had been robbed of a "large quantity" of jewelry. Goldberg, a jewelry salesman, estimated his loss at $75,000.

The two officers said they saw a black, 1949, Ford coach approaching them southeast of Howells, Neb., and turned their car crossways on a curve.

The car, reported stolen in Omaha this morning, crashed into Kline's car and "a number of shots were exchanged," the patrol said. The occupants of the coach were killed and Patach shot in the hand.

Howells is about 35 miles southwest of Lyons.

The dead men were not immediately identified. The patrol said Colfax county Attorney L. L. Pospihil, acting as coroner, had been called to the scene.

Seek Congressional Probe Of A. T. & T.

Chicago, June 17—(AP)—The CIO communications workers today sought a congressional investigation of the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

In resolutions adopted at convention sessions, CWA directed its president, Joseph A. Beirne, to ask the Senate and House to investigate A. T. & T. labor practices and "its relations with associated companies."

The resolution also urged a congressional investigation "of the power and influence of A. T. & T. on the national labor relations board's general counsel, Robert Denham."

"The telephone workers," the resolution continued, "are without any speedy and adequate legal recourse, and are therefore appealing to congress."

UNCOVERS PLOT

San Salvador, El Salvador, June 17—(AP)—The government announced today it had discovered a plot to overthrow the regime and had taken measures to foil it. A communique blamed the alleged plot on a "reactionary group."

Mr. Truman mentioned no names. The real estate lobby is an old target in his fight for housing legislation. He accused the 80th republic congress last year of "delivering" for this lobby and others.

There was no immediate comment from real estate and building industry critics of the bill.

The bill, cleared this week for House action by the rules committee, may reach a vote late next week. Similar legislation has passed the Senate by a topheavy 57 to 13, with strong bipartisan backing.

But the House presented a doubtful outcome. GOP leader Martin of Massachusetts has predicted a majority of republican members will oppose the bill.

President Truman figured the cost of the measure at $10,000,000,000 over a 30-year period. He said the real estate lobby had put out a misleading estimate twice as high.

Briefly, here are the points outlined by the president:

Thomas Says It Would Fit Emergencies

Washington, June 17—(AP)—Senator Eibert Thomas (D-Utah) told a squabbling Senate today the Truman labor bill would leave the way open for plant seizure, injunctions, or whatever action would fit a given strike emergency.

Thomas spoke as the chamber considered the administration measure to repeal the Taft-Hartley act and return to a modified version of the old New Deal Wagner Act. A big point at issue is whether the new measure should say specifically, as does the Taft-Hartley law, that the president can seize plants or get injunctions to halt strikes imperiling the national welfare.

Powers Not Limited

Thomas, chief sponsor of the administration bill, said that although it doesn't authorize seizure or injunctions, it is "written in such a way" as not to limit the inherent powers of the president.

Those powers, he said, clearly include seizing plants or getting injunctions in a national emergency. Then the excitement started.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) also pleaded for the administration bill but took a sharply different approach.

He urged its passage on the ground that it promotes neither seizure nor injunctions.

He attacked a 90-day seizure proposal by Senators Douglas (D-Ill.) and Aiken (R-Vt.) even more hotly than he attacked a proposal by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) to continue the explicit injunction authority of the Taft-Hartley act.

Douglas and Taft both jumped to their feet.

Pepper said "labor hates the injunction with all the bitterness of its painful memories of its long past." But he said to stop strikes by government seizure is even worse, because it also leads to injunctions against unions and at the same time is "obnoxious to management."

Pepper roared that he wanted to show the "kinship" of the Taft and Douglas proposals.

Douglas flatly denied the similarity. He said seizure would not inevitably lead to injunctions, but in the "vast majority" of cases, when an industry was seized "the patriotism and good sense of the workers would lead them to go back to work."

Taft's retort to Pepper was that it was the Douglas-Aiken amendment and the administration bill which are alike.

Tucker Will Be Arraigned In U.S. Court Thursday

Chicago, June 17—(AP)—Preston Tucker, indicted promoter of an unmarked automobile will be arraigned Thursday in federal court, U. S. Attorney Otto Kerner, Jr., announced today.

Tucker and seven other persons were indicted on 25 accusations of mail fraud, five counts of violation of SEC regulations, and a single charge of conspiracy.

The other defendants are Harold Karsten, 59, alias Abraham Karatz, of North Hollywood, Calif.; Floyd D. Cerf, Chicago investment broker; Fred Rockelman, former director and sales manager; Cliff Knoble, former advertising director; Mitchell W. Dullen, another ex-sales manager; Otis Radford, former comptroller and director, and Robert Pierce, once a director and treasurer of the Tucker firm.

Meantime Mrs. James A. Gifford, of Denver, Colo., filed a claim for $2000 against the bankrupt corporation. She claimed she was promised a Tucker car for winning a radio contest a year ago.

NON-FARM WORK RISES DURING APRIL

Chicago, June 17—(AP)—Illinois non-agricultural employment stopped declining in April but remained below last year's figures, the state department of labor announced today.

Total non-farm employment was placed at 3,091,000, or 0.6 per cent below April, 1948. Manufacturing jobs led the decline, dropping 23,500 from March, 1949, and 4.2 per cent from April, 1948.

Employment in non-manufacturing industries rose. Contract construction gained 6.8 per cent over April, 1948, for the largest increase.

Paul Robeson, Jr., To Wed White Girl

New York, June 17—(AP)—Paul Robeson, Jr., 21-year-old son of the Negro singer, took out a license today to marry Marilyn Paula Greenberg, a white, 21-year-old Cornell University graduate.

Robeson also is a graduate of Cornell, where he was a star athlete. The license application said the marriage is scheduled for Sunday.

Mrs. Rae Greenberg, mother of the bride-to-be, was signed a certificate of consent for her daughter's marriage.

Robeson listed his occupation as electrical engineer. His father returned only yesterday from a tour of Europe, including Soviet Russia where he said he was warmly welcomed.

Young Robeson was a star high jumper on the Cornell track team. He played half back and defensive end on the varsity football team.

Says Plants Could Be Seized By Labor Bill

Turns Down Motion To Dismiss Hiss' Case

New York, June 17—(AP)—The government rested its case against Alger Hiss today after 14 days of testimony. Soon afterwards defense motions to dismiss the perjury charges were turned down.

The defense in behalf of the handsome, 44-year-old former state department official will begin Monday.

Lloyd Paul Stryker, top defense counsel, confirmed that Hiss would take the stand to tell his own story but said this probably would be later next week.

Hiss is accused of lying twice in telling a grand jury he never gave government secrets to Whittaker Chambers, former communist courier, and that he never saw Chambers after Jan. 1, 1937.

The defense motions to throw out the government's case were presented to Federal Judge Samuel H. Kaufman in his chambers.

Kaufman explained afterwards that he denied them "on the grounds that there is sufficient evidence at this time to require the defendant to go to the jury."

The government presented only one witness, its 33rd in the case, before resting a few minutes after court opened.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Thomas F. Murphy had billed him as a "surprise" witness. However, it developed that the testimony of the man, Benjamin H. Firsheim, a stenotypist, related only to one point in Chambers' cross-examination.

Babich Says He'd Have Confessed After Baby's Birth

Milwaukee, June 17—(AP)—Milton Babich testified today he planned to tell his wife the slaying of her sister after the birth of their child.

The state is trying the 19-year-old Babich for first degree murder of Patricia Birmingham. It claims the shooting was to prevent Patricia from telling of the pregnancy of her sister, Kathleen, with whom Babich later eloped. The weighted body of 16-year-old Patricia was found in the river three days after the elopement.

"Now, Milton, if Pat's body never had been found (it was located by accident during the search for the body of a suicide) you never would have told anyone she was shot in your car, would you?"

"I would," answered Babich.

"Who would you have told and when?"

"I'd have told Kay after the baby was born."

"Were you going to tell the police?"

"Kay first."

Report Romanian Minister Under Fire From Moscow

Zurich, Switzerland, June 17—(AP)—Romania's warlike foreign minister, Ana Pauker, today was reported under fire from Moscow for depositing party funds in foreign banks without telling the communists.

The Swiss weekly newspaper Die Weltwoche said her fall from among the Kremlin's favorites became known after the arrest of a Romanian charged with spying on bank deals in Switzerland. The paper is independent and widely circulated in this country.

Some of the Romanian communist funds handled by Mrs. Pauker were reported found in Swiss banks which traditionally handle great amounts of foreign exchange in wartime and peace.

Informal quarters in Bucharest said they were inclined to discredit reports that Mrs. Pauker had fallen into Moscow's disfavor.

The alleged spy from Romania is Solvay Vilanu, now on trial at Winterthur for political and economic espionage.

The prosecution charges one of his jobs was to snoop out foreign currency holdings of Romanian refugees in Switzerland and then get them for the Communist party by bribery and blackmail.

POLES FIGHT ILLITERACY

Warsaw—(AP)—The government's big drive to eliminate illiteracy is being directed by Stefan Matuszewski, a former minister of information and propaganda. He was named special plenipotentiary to see to it that every man, woman and child in Poland learns how to read and write.

Matuszewski has just ordered the registration of all illiterates to determine their number and arrange for setting up schools and courses of instruction.

Fireworks Law Will Be Enforced; State's Attorney Cites Law

Jacksonville and Morgan county law enforcement officials prepared Friday to bring about strict enforcement of the state fireworks law, with legal instructions from State's Attorney Albert W. Hall to guide them. The state's attorney issued a letter to city and county officials and presidents of village boards in all towns of the county, advising them of the law as applied to the sale or possession of fireworks.

Sale of fireworks of any size, blank cartridges, toy cannons which use explosives, torpedoes, skyrockets, Roman candles and other similar fireworks is illegal, the state's attorney pointed out.

Copies of his letter will be sent to all law enforcement officials in the county.

The communication follows:

To: Sheriff, Morgan County
Mayor, City of Jacksonville
All Village Presidents in Morgan County

Gentlemen:

Quite numerous inquiries have been made of this office concerning the sale and use of fireworks.

The following are the only types of fireworks that may be lawfully sold or lawfully used in the State of Illinois: Sparklers, Toy Pistols, Toy Cans, Toy Guns, or other devices in which paper caps containing 25 grains or less of explosive compound are used, providing they are so constructed that the hand cannot come in contact with the cap when in place for the explosion.

If the fireworks in question do not come within the above limits it will be unlawful for any person to use such fireworks or to sell such fireworks or even to offer such fireworks for sale.

Solely by way of illustration of the above law, please be advised that the following types of fireworks are illegal, for example: Fire-crackers of any size or kind, blank cartridges, toy cannons in which explosives are used, balloons which require fire underneath to propel the same, torpedoes, skyrockets, Roman candles, bombs, or other fireworks of like construction, and fountains, regardless of the height to which they spray.

Any person, firm, co-partnership, or corporation violating the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, be punished by a fine not exceeding $100.00 or by imprisonment in the County Jail not exceeding 90 days, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

I wish to emphasize that the law is violated even when the unlawful fireworks are merely offered or exposed for sale, and, likewise, it is a violation of the statute to use or explode any of the unlawful fireworks. (All references are to Smith-Hurd Illinois Revised Statutes for 1947, Chapter 38, paragraphs 276.27-276.31, inclusive.)

Respectfully,

ALBERT W. HALL
N. B. Please note that the City Council in cities, the Presidents and Boards of Trustees in villages and incorporated towns and in some instances the County Commissioners can adopt reasonable rules and regulations for the granting of permits for supervised public displays of fireworks.

Driver Sustains Broken Leg When Auto Hits Pole

Losing control of his automobile in fog that obscured vision along U. S. Route 36 at Orleans station early Friday morning, J. D. Smith, 35 year old Petersburg business man, sustained a fractured leg. Smith's car collided with a telephone pole after running off the pavement at Orleans.

The county jail office was notified of the accident at 6:30 o'clock, after which Deputy Sheriff Jack Andrews went to Orleans. He found Smith still behind the wheel of his damaged car. The deputy called Cooney's ambulance and the Lukeman Motor Co. wrecker.

Smith, who is connected with the Ben Franklin store at Petersburg, was found to have a fractured leg and bruises.

The accident occurred while he was enroute to this city to visit his mother who is a patient at Passavant. Both mother and son were under treatment there after the accident.

One of the front wheels of Smith's car slipped from the north side of the pavement, and in trying to get back on the pavement the car traveled across it to the south side, colliding with the pole.

Tied for a close second were Mrs. Ford Jackson, consistently in the top bracket, paired with Mrs. Edward D. Bargery, and Mrs. Wayne Wood. 1947-1948 titleist, whose partner, Mrs. Richard Arnold, returned to this years ladies golf with credible results.

Unique Reading Contest Begun At Local Library

Paratroopers are in demand at the public library. The job is one that can be done by any child who is fond of reading.

The paratrooper idea is the theme of the reading contest which the library is holding during the summer months.

Each child who enters is given a numbered parachute which is placed on a large bulletin board after he reads one book. With every two books he reads, the parachute is dropped to a lower cloud. The parachute reaches the ground after 12 books are read. The child is then a paratrooper.

Each paratrooper will be awarded a diploma at the conclusion of the contest. For every time he makes the leap, or for every 12 books he reads, a star will be added to the diploma.

Forty-five parachute jumpers are now trying to reach the ground. They are John Robert Jackson, who will enter David Prince Junior High school next fall; Frederick Joseph Burry, fourth grade at Washington school; and William Norvell, fourth grade, Washington school.

The planes on display belong to Dale Gilpin, Bobby Meado, Omer Koeh and Gary Brodgen. Any boy or girl who would like to exhibit a plane is invited to do so.

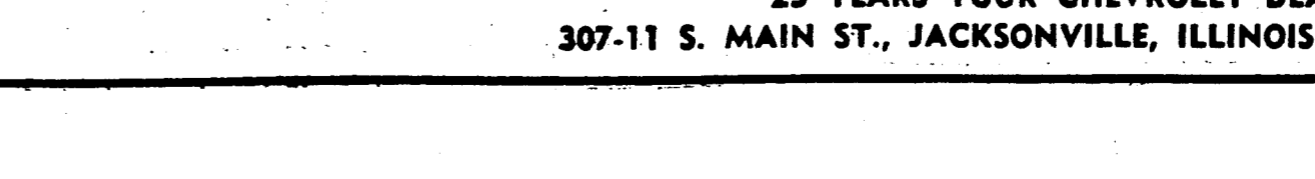

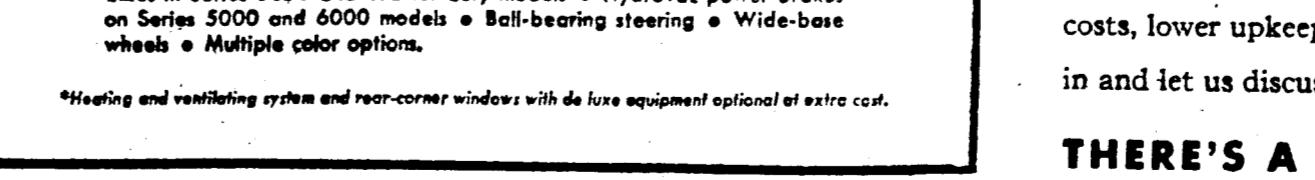

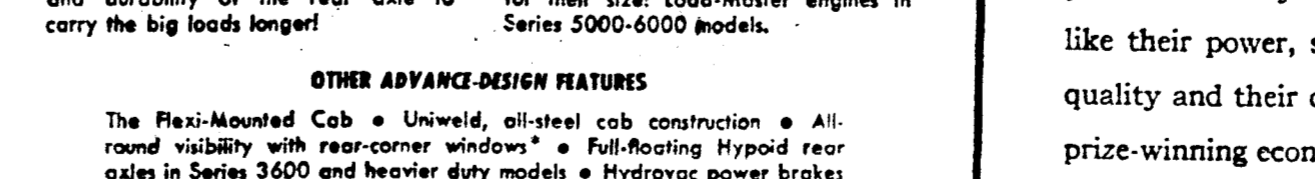

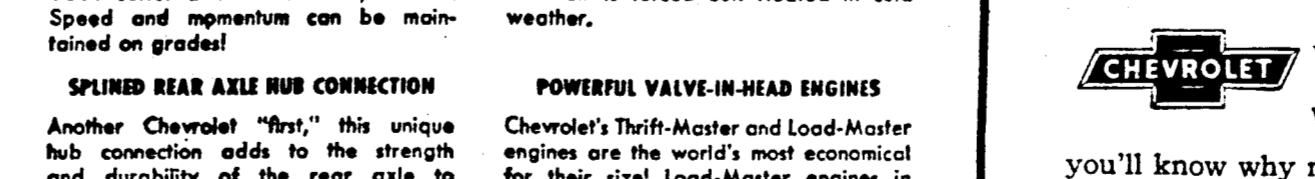

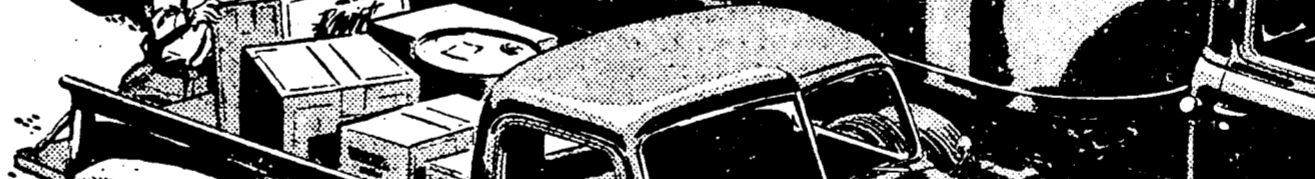

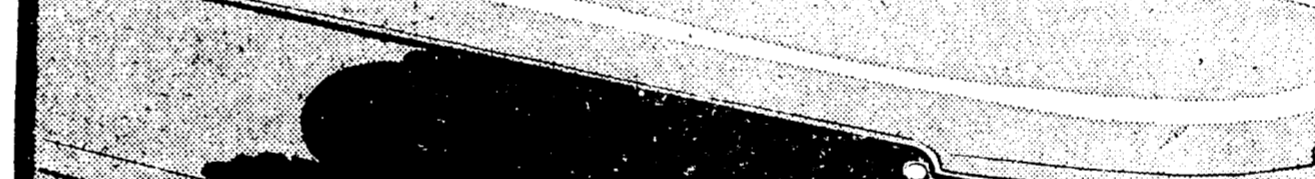

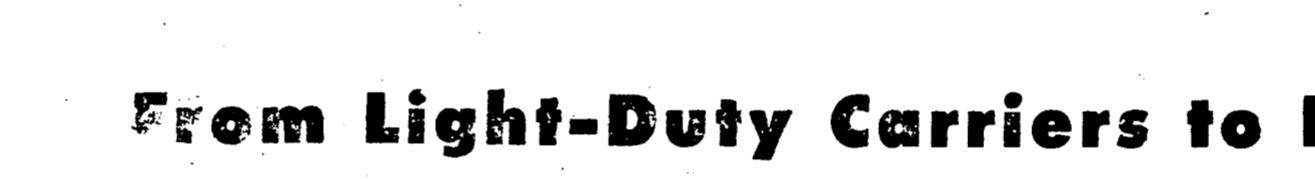

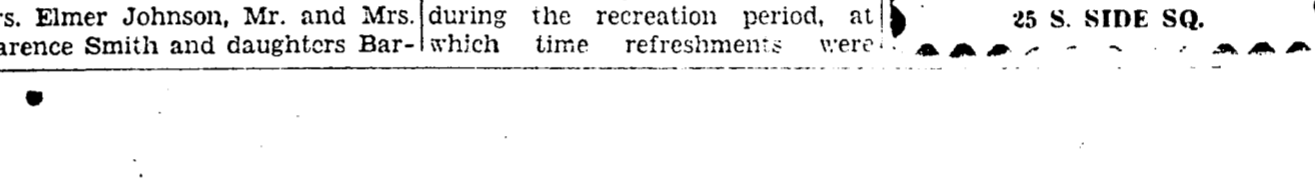

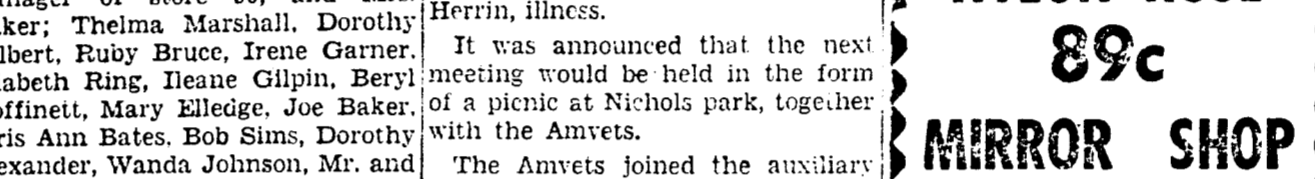

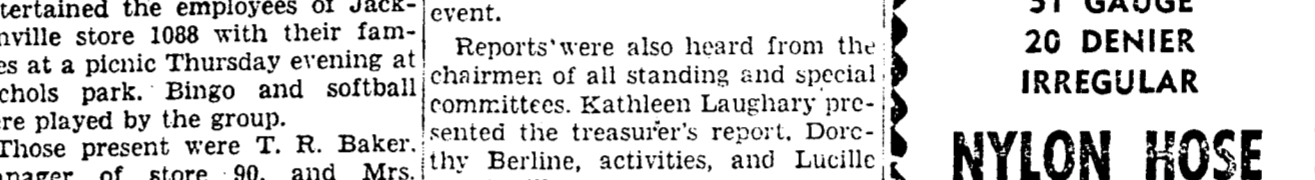

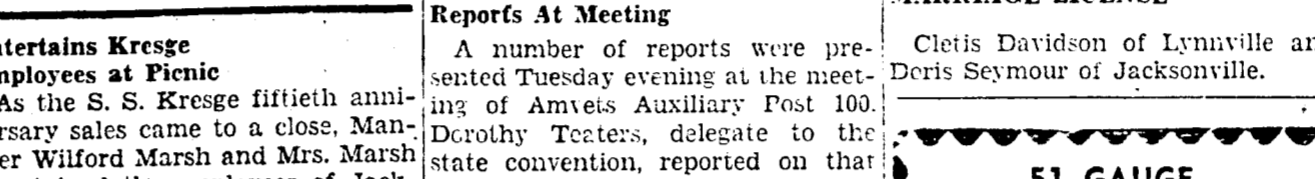

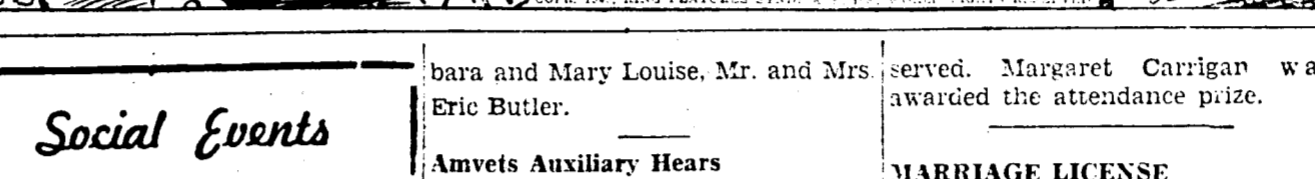

Miss Esther Conner, child's librarian, has charge of the contest. All children are invited to enter.

LaMotta Promises— I'll Be A Fighting Middleweight Champ

"I really worked for this one," said 26-year-old Jake who chased the 160-pound title for years. "Now I got what I wanted."

The granite-jawed thumper from New York's Bronx realized his ambition of a lifetime last night at Briggs stadium when he stopped an injured Marcel Cerdan of Casablanca in the 10th round.

"Getting a chance at the title gave me incentive to work," he explained. "I'll fight anybody they say. From now on, while I'm still fighting I'll always be in the best of shape. I found out that makes fights easier. When I get too lazy to work, I'll quit."

LaMotta lounged in his hotel room, greeting well wishers and accepting telephone congratulations in a steady stream of calls. His attractive blonde wife, Vicki, helped. She beamed at Jake like a wife should at a new champ breadwinner.

Wears $5,000 Belt
Under his outdoor shirt, Jake wore the $5,000-valued belt that was presented to the winner in mid-ring last night.

"They wanted to take it to get my name put on it," said Jake, "but I said no. Nobody's going to get this away from me."

"I want to wait until I get back home to have x-rays taken of my hand. What's the hurry? I think it is a fracture."

"What's next? That's up to the promoters," he said. "My contract calls for me to fight Cerdan again in September. I don't know where. If he can't make it because of his bum shoulder, then he has until January under the contract. We get 30-30 on an even percentage in the second fight."

Jake's brother Joey, who acts as his manager, was "pretty sure" the return bout will be held in a New York ball park in September. It all depends on Cerdan's condition.

Had The Fight Sewed Up
Jake figured he had the fight sewed up in the last four rounds. He wasn't at all surprised when Cerdan didn't come out for the 10th after a between-rounds examination of his shoulder by the Michigan commission doctor.

"I knew something was the matter with his left," LaMotta said. "I got a little tired about the fifth round but I was getting a second wind when it was over. How about it? We waiting all these years and then having to box to win?"

LaMotta was fighting for "practically nothing." His 15 per cent came to about $19,175.50. All of that sum, with the exception of approximately $3,000 for traveling expenses, was held in escrow by the promoters, the International Boxing club.

Cerdan flew to New York early this morning for an x-ray of his shoulder. He is supposed to return to France soon and was due to make a movie in Italy. His 40 per cent share here was $51,124. In addition he will pick up about $25,000 that has been held in escrow since he beat Tony Zale for the title in Jersey City last September.

Nick Londe, local promoter for the I.B.C., estimated the margin of profit or loss after all expenses at "about $2,500." The gross gate paid by 22,183 persons was $159,762.

Immediately after reaching New York, Cerdan had the shoulder x-rayed and then went to a hotel where he packed his bags for a flight to Paris tomorrow.

Dr. Vincent Mardello, New York Athletic commission physician estimated that the injury would heal in four to six weeks and that Cerdan could fight again in September.

9th Inning Run Gives Brooklyn 2-1 Win Over Cubs

Chicago, June 17.—(P)—Big Don Newcombe pitched the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers back into winning stride today with a 2-1 victory over Warren Hacker and the Chicago Cubs.

The Dodgers pushed across the winning tally in the ninth inning to protect their slim margin over the St. Louis Cardinals in the National league and hand the undefeated Newcombe his fourth triumph.

Duke Snider started the winning rally with a single and was sacrificed to second by Jackie Robinson. Then Gil Hodges singled through the left side of the infield to score Snider.

Roy Campanella hit his tenth home run of the season for Brooklyn in the third inning.

The Cubs tied it up in the sixth. Emil Verban opened with a walk and was sacrificed to second by Hal Jeffcoat. Hank Edwards then got a scratch single near second base when Robinson booted his grounder and Verban scored as the ball rolled into center field.

The Dodgers collected eight hits off Hacker, who suffered his first defeat against one victory. Newcombe allowed six hits.

It was the sixth straight loss for the Cubs and the fifth since Frank Frisch became their manager.

Marilynn Smith, Kansas Co-ed, Wins Women's Golf Title

Columbus, O., June 17.—(P)—A nervous sophomore from the plains of Kansas—wearing two caps at the same time because "I'm superstitious"—won the 1949 Women's Intercollegiate golf championship today.

Sunny Marilynn Smith of Wichita, Kas., topped Grace Lenskyk of Hartford, Conn., from the college throne, 3 and 2, in a drizzling rain.

The 20-year-old University of Kansas coed bent her double-capped blond head over a two-foot putt on the tricky No. 16 green and tapped it in the cup with a clatter. And that was the championship.

Marilynn began the tourney last Monday with a brilliant red tennis visor. Somewhere along about the 10th or 11th shower, her father bought her a white jockey cap to keep her hair dry.

ISLAND OF ESCAPE

George Bascombe, Mollie and Agnes Firth met them at the trail. "We didn't have to bury Fred after all," George said. "Mollie went down to fasten on a rope, and when she was so busy stripping off his money belt the body rolled off the ledge into the surf."

Nona went to George Bascombe and put her arm around him. She said, "Come on. Let's get to the boat. All of us."

"There will be the need of several trips," Oak said. "You go on ahead. We will follow. Miss Cosgrove should move slowly."

They moved so slowly they were soon alone. "Tell me," Oak said. "What happened? The buildings?"

She told him of the fire and the blast. "You put the mate ashore for my sake, didn't you? You thought I might be in danger."

"I am not smart," Oak said. "You have discovered that already. I made sure no dynamite was planted as had been threatened by those who wanted revenge on Harding. I forgot the whiskey. He was not himself when he drank. Well, he is dead."

"You didn't trust me," Beas accused. "You thought I had killed Lily Warren."

"I was near the cave," Oak said. "I heard a shot. I hurried up and found Mrs. Warren dead. I looked up toward the north end of the island. Just in time to get a glimpse of a nude woman darting into the gully."

"You came up the same way and found me tending the sheep. You couldn't tell the difference between Mabel Jones and me!"

Miguel Oak laughed. "I only had a glimpse. I knew of your gun. I found you tending the sheep."

"Now," Oak sighed. "I have decided to be a good fisherman instead of a bad and frightened lawyer. But as a lawyer, with high-placed friends I was able to find out some things about you."

"What did you find out?" Beas asked.

Oak said, "Your high-placed friends brought pressure on the Lonely Hearts Matrimonial and Correspondence Club to include you in the list sent to Henry Harding. Include a Miss Beas Cosgrove. She will make certain there is no monkey business."

Beas shrugged. "Near enough." "It would not have done," Miguel Oak went on, "for you to have used your full name. Beas Cosgrove Martin. Wife of Jim Martin, who had a detective agency, a piece of worthless land and no faith in living. Land which belonged to his wife. A life which he refused to realize belonged to her also. When he failed in what he felt he should be able to do, he robbed you of his life."

"Leave Jim out of it," Beas said. "Jim's dead. I shouldn't have left him alone. I thought he could learn to stand alone if I wasn't there to lean on."

"I did not know him," Miguel Oak said. "I know no man can understand fully another man's actions. To me he is only a dead man. And there are many of those. It was you who brought worry to me. When I first saw you on the Simpatico I knew it was hate that filled you. I recognized you for a kindred spirit."

"I could not see why Jim would choose death to my love. It was easier to blame Harding."

"I hated him well," Oak said. "For the needless death of my younger brother I had persuaded to come here to work. Blame and hatred. We are stupid, and fearful. And we must face too, this difficult Henry Harding. Is he in love with you?"

Beas said slowly, "He trusts me. He hunts a dead mother among the women of the world."

"So. And you will tell him who you are? You will tell him the truth?"

"I don't know. I don't know." (To Be Concluded)

George Bascombe, Mollie and Agnes Firth met them at the trail. "We didn't have to bury Fred after all," George said. "Mollie went down to fasten on a rope, and when she was so busy stripping off his money belt the body rolled off the ledge into the surf."

Nona went to George Bascombe and put her arm around him. She said, "Come on. Let's get to the boat. All of us."

"There will be the need of several trips," Oak said. "You go on ahead. We will follow. Miss Cosgrove should move slowly."

They moved so slowly they were soon alone. "Tell me," Oak said. "What happened? The buildings?"

She told him of the fire and the blast. "You put the mate ashore for my sake, didn't you? You thought I might be in danger."

"I am not smart," Oak said. "You have discovered that already. I made sure no dynamite was planted as had been threatened by those who wanted revenge on Harding. I forgot the whiskey. He was not himself when he drank. Well, he is dead."

"You didn't trust me," Beas accused. "You thought I had killed Lily Warren."

"I was near the cave," Oak said. "I heard a shot. I hurried up and found Mrs. Warren dead. I looked up toward the north end of the island. Just in time to get a glimpse of a nude woman darting into the gully."

"You came up the same way and found me tending the sheep. You couldn't tell the difference between Mabel Jones and me!"

Miguel Oak laughed. "I only had a glimpse. I knew of your gun. I found you tending the sheep."

"Now," Oak sighed. "I have decided to be a good fisherman instead of a bad and frightened lawyer. But as a lawyer, with high-placed friends I was able to find out some things about you."

"What did you find out?" Beas asked.

Oak said, "Your high-placed friends brought pressure on the Lonely Hearts Matrimonial and Correspondence Club to include you in the list sent to Henry Harding. Include a Miss Beas Cosgrove. She will make certain there is no monkey business."

Beas shrugged. "Near enough." "It would not have done," Miguel Oak went on, "for you to have used your full name. Beas Cosgrove Martin. Wife of Jim Martin, who had a detective agency, a piece of worthless land and no faith in living. Land which belonged to his wife. A life which he refused to realize belonged to her also. When he failed in what he felt he should be able to do, he robbed you of his life."

"Leave Jim out of it," Beas said. "Jim's dead. I shouldn't have left him alone. I thought he could learn to stand alone if I wasn't there to lean on."

"I did not know him," Miguel Oak said. "I know no man can understand fully another man's actions. To me he is only a dead man. And there are many of those. It was you who brought worry to me. When I first saw you on the Simpatico I knew it was hate that filled you. I recognized you for a kindred spirit."

"I could not see why Jim would choose death to my love. It was easier to blame Harding."

"I hated him well," Oak said. "For the needless death of my younger brother I had persuaded to come here to work. Blame and hatred. We are stupid, and fearful. And we must face too, this difficult Henry Harding. Is he in love with you?"

Beas said slowly, "He trusts me. He hunts a dead mother among the women of the world."

"So. And you will tell him who you are? You will tell him the truth?"

"I don't know. I don't know." (To Be Concluded)

Another Farm Aid Bill Brought Forth By House Group

Washington, June 17—(AP)—Still another new aid-to-farmers bill was unveiled in tentative form tonight by a House Agricultural subcommittee.

It calls for continuation of rigid price supports of farm commodities—at 100 per cent of a new parity-of-farm-income standard. It also provides for "trial runs" of the hotly controversial farm plan proposed by Secretary of Agriculture Brannan.

Committee Chairman Pace (D-Ga.) said the subcommittee expects to act formally on the latest plan next Tuesday. He explained that several proposed amendments are yet to be acted upon.

The government now supports farm prices by buying up farm products, or making loans to farmers on them. Under present law, the prices of major crops are supported at 90 per cent of "parity." Parity is a price, arrived at by a complicated formula. At the time it was drawn up years ago it was deemed to be "equally fair" to producers and consumers.
